Progress of the Burgoon Party—Crittenden to be the Candidate in 1860.

The Presidential campaign of 1856 taught the Black Republicans a salutary lesson. Its leaders are men of great political sagacity and have made the passions of men their study, and have spent their lives in experimenting upon the most successful modes of demagoguery. The circumstances which ushered Fremont into the political arena an aspirant for Presidential honors were singularly favorable to his success. The then recent abrogation of the Missouri Compromise had inflamed the fanatics of the North to the highest pitch of excitement. The prejudice against the North and the South was fostered by extremists of both sections, and the sectional isue was presented in a light so offensive that it was hoped that every free State would be carried against "the South." Accidental circumstances, such as the caning of SUMNER, Fremont's romantic career, and his prodigious achievements in the way of eating grass hoppers and mule steaks, still further embarrassed the exertions of the Democratic party, and contributed to the probable success of the wooly horse adventurer.

With all these adventitious circumstances the Black Republicans met with a disgraceful defeat.

They can never bring another candidate into the field with the favorable circumstances which surrounded Fremont. Failing to elect him when circumstances were so propitious, the Black Republicans are too smart to attempt to elect a President now that their faction has fallen into discredit, without some new humbug. Pantheism at the North has materially abated in violence, and the conservative administration is cementing the National Democracy more indissolubly than ever. These facts are at least upon the Black Republicans. They foresee the utter futility of making another single handed fight against the National Democracy. They have resolved to change with the times, and they will combine their section of the "elements" with any other which in their estimation will catch the popular eye. They will subordinate the slavery question —if necessary, entirely ignore it—to measures of policy more popular in all sections of the Union

Having failed in a contest strictly sectional, they are ready to abandon their first and favorite is-

HARRY CHAPMAN and his talented lady, with a fine Dramatic stock company, are playing in Louisville to crowded houses.

The Philadelphia Pennsylvanian states that George P. Morris, the poet, will be tendered the cousinship of an important European poet.

Bourbon County.—The criminal term of the Bourbon Court, closed last week. The case of CHAM, indicated for the commission of a rape upon his sister-in-law, was continued.

DEATH OF AN EDITOR.—C. BAILEY THORNBURY, editor of the Hickman (Ky.) News, died a few days since.

The Mass Meeting which came off last Thursday, the 15th, at Harrodsburg, is spoken of as a splendid affair, a great many persons being present. Vice-President BRECKINRIDGE, as usual, delivered one of his finest speeches, as did also, a good many other gentlemen.

Nelson County

The Democracy of Nelson County, in convention, on Monday last week, nominated the following ticket:

County Judge—Thos. J. Higdon.

County Attorney—Wm. Johnson.

Sheriff—James Wood.

County Clerk—Geo. W. Moore.

Assessor—M. P. Livers.

Justice—H. A. Worland.

The deaths at New Orleans for the week ending on the 11th were 143, of which 9 were yellow fever, 6 typhoid, 3 scarlet, 3 congestive, 19 consumption, and 11 stillborn.

We are requested to state R. A. Thompson our candidate for County Judge is absent on a visit to a sick relative. This will account for his non attendance of our County Court yesterday.

He will be on hand in due season.

GEN. QUINN DEAD.—We learn by late telegraphic dispatches, that Gen. J. A. QUINN, of the U. S. Army, died at his residence, near Natchez, Miss., on Saturday last, July 17, at a quarter before six o'clock, from a disease contracted at the National Hotel, Washington City, last Fall.

The Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance in Northern Kentucky, assembled in Winchester on the 22d.

Queen, a celebrated terrier the property of one JACOB HANCK a German citizen or Mayslick, killed 300 huge Norway rats within the last two weeks. The rat terrier is the most valuable variety of the canine species.

DEAD.—Wm. D. HOWARD, of Louisville, one of the sufferers by the Pennsylvania explosion, died in Memphis on Saturday.

Seven shares of Kentucky stock sold at 110

Public Speaking.

RANKIN R. REVILL, the Democratic candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, will address the people at the following times and places:

Mr. Vennin, Rockcastle co., Wednesday, July 21.

Manchester, Clay co., Friday, July 23.

Crockettsville, Clay co., Saturday, July 24.

Crane, Bartholomew co., Monday, July 25.

Honolulu, Owsley co., Tuesday, July 27.

Stanton, Powell co., Wednesday, July 28.

Irvine, Estill co., Thursday, July 29.

Richmond, Madison co., Friday, July 30.

Nicholasville, Jessamine co., Saturday, July 31.

A WRECH.—The editor of the Stockton (Cal.)

Republican has been seeking for items in improper quarters. Here is one of his sensation para-

HCN JAMES B. CLAY.

TO HIS CONSTITUENTS OF THE ASHLAND DISTRICT.

[CONCLUDED.]

In the canvass I made of this district last summer, I told you, as you will recollect, that the old Whig party, being no longer in existence, none of its old members any longer in issue before the country, the true and only contest lay between the national Democratic party on the one side, and the Black Republican Abolition party on the other; that the time had arrived, so often predicted, and in anticipation deplored by the wisest of the old statesmen, when a sectional party should arise upon the question of slavery, party, which would more in peril the very existence of the Union. Everywhere I asserted that the so-called American party had scarce an existence, that in Congress it would have but a mere corporal guard, powerful, perhaps, for evil, but powerless for good; who would be entirely unable to carry out any of the distinctive meas-programme was to be carried out to the end; for it was to be applied to one or two of the votes, and gentlemen were then to be at liberty to vote for a conference, to recede or abandon in any stage of the proceedings. It was clearly understood that this arrangement was to hold as long as the bill was before the House. If I had believed that the Democrats would stand with me, I should believe that if they adhered, the Senate bill would be defeated; and I will state, that at a meeting at which I was present, this paper was read, and a copy of it was taken by an anti-Lecompton Demostrator, who afterwards told me that his friends, and others gave me the same assurance, to the extent, at least of twenty, would stand up to it under all circumstances.

Several MEMBERS. Who was that?

Mr. STEVENSON. I ask the gentleman whether of last winter, was found voting uniformly with those men who Mr. Clay had a thousand times denounced.

My attention also has been called to a sort of controversy between the newspapers of the city of Lexington, as to the relations which existed between Mr. Crittenden and Mr. Clay prior to his death. In that controversy, I have no disposition to take part. Towards Mr. Crittenden I have a kindness; he has the making of his own record.

He has been endowed by Providence with such great talents that it does seem to me his friends ought to be content that by the record he makes for himself he should stand or fall; but it appears to me that the object of the article in the Observer & Reporter, of the 9th ult., was to make the friends of Mr. Clay believe that his relations towards Mr. Crittenden, after the result of 1843,
